Observations (of the end of tool, use additional space if required)

The factory is not now in operation as there are plans to relocate to the facility from wich the Wind-Hill Agro-processors will also be operating. The facility is still under construction. Activities were affected by Hurricane Ivan in terms of sourcing raw materials and completing the facility on time.

Quality Management - there were no sanitation standard operating procedures by which the group was guided. OAS/SRC Food Processors Project was able to train managers of this company on the importance of such documents and the application of the procedures in order to be HACCP qualified. This (training) is presently being utilized in the business.

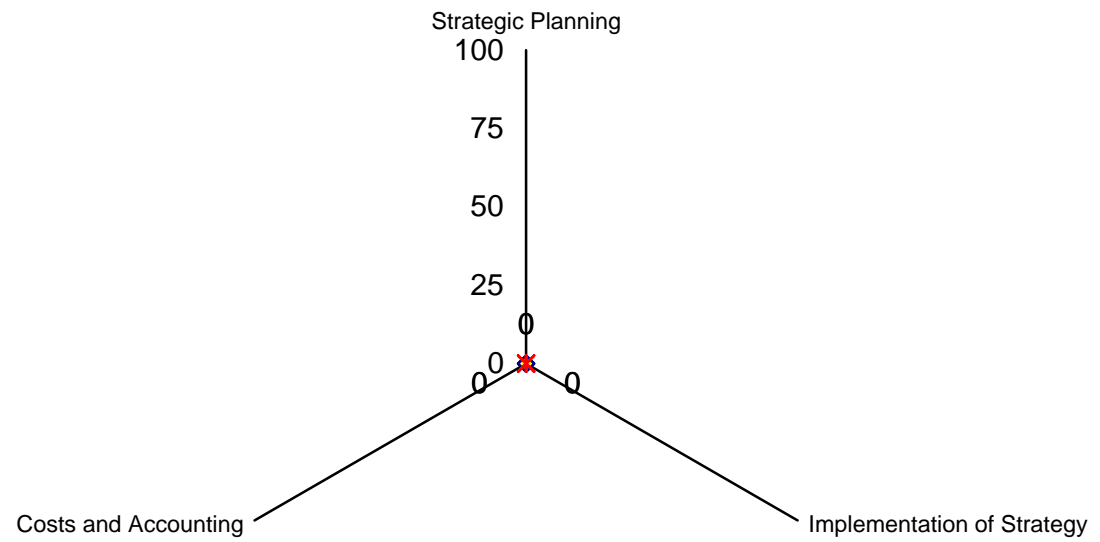

Environmental Management - when the group started there was no environmental activity in the factory. The project's input to this group has impacted significantly as they are practicing what was passed on to them within the business and to the community members.
